CAMP TEA

Winter Melon Tea

Dong Gua Cha

Winter Melon Sugar + Water

A Chinese and Taiwanese tea made from winter melon simmered down into sugar blocks, then chilled. Smooth, mellow and caramel-like rather than fruity — it tastes far more like toffee than like melon. This is the one sweet option on the dispenser.

SWEET · CAFFEINE-FREE — THE ONE SWEET TEA ON THE DISPENSER

ALL DAY · SELF-SERVE

CAMP TEA

Mugicha

Roasted Barley Tea

Roasted Barley + Water

Roasted barley steeped cold, drunk cold, all across Japan and Korea in summer. Nutty and toasty with no bitterness and no tannin at all. Drink it like water — this is the one to reach for when you have had enough sugar for one day.

UNSWEETENED · CAFFEINE-FREE

CAMP TEA

Green Tea

Iced

Green Tea + Water

Cold-steeped overnight instead of brewed hot, which is why it never goes stewed or bitter no matter how long it sits. Clean, grassy and light. The one to drink when you want tea that tastes like tea.

UNSWEETENED · LIGHTLY CAFFEINATED

STANDING TEA

Lapsang Souchong

Smoked black tea, iced

Lapsang Souchong + Water

Pine-smoked black tea, cold-steeped so it never turns acrid. Savoury, smoky and bone dry — closer to a campfire than to a cup of tea, and the most surprising thing on the bar. One batch only, so it comes and goes across the week.
